OUR GOLD PENS

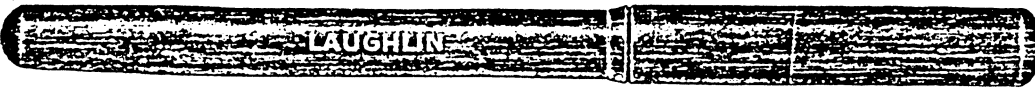

Are solid gold, as fine gold as the best, so fine that they are not corrodible by ink or otherwise, and as fine as they can be made and have sufficient alloy to make them strong, elastic and durable. The points are diamond pointed, with caridium, a much finer and better metal alloy than iridium, because it adheres to gold by sweating more tenaciously, never scales, chips or breaks, is much harder in

A trial will quickly convince the user of its superiority over iridium for diamond pointing. The points are ground by the most skilled workmen. In style of point we can please the most exacting users, as the assortment includes fine, medium, coarse and stub points, with varying degrees of flexibility to suit any hand. AN ERRONEOUS IMPRESSION

Some people think that in a general way all fountain pens are similar, and buy a $1.00 pen, taking it for granted that a $1.00 fountain pen is as good as a $2.00 one. This theory will apply in the purchase of a pair of shoes or a hat just as well as in the case of a pen. Our "Comfort" $1.00 Pen is a good article, well made, fitted with a good feeder and a 14-k gold pen of fine, medium or coarse point as desired, but it would not be consistent to assume that we cannot make a better pen for $2.00 than we can for $1.00. While the main difference is, of course, in the size, weight and finish of the gold pen, there is also a difference in the amount of skilled labor expended upon the parts comprising the complete holder. While we advise all to purchase a first quality pen, one stamped "LAUGHLIN," we can say for our "Comfort" that it is as good a pen as it is possible to produce at the price, and will be found to be a satisfactory article.
